

BOXES WITH A PURPOSE

USI Art and Design students in advanced woodworking classes (ART352, ART451, and ART452) have generously donated these pieces of artwork to this silent auction benefiting Wesselman Woods.

“(My) students used reclaimed wood to create beautiful, functional wooden boxes. Much of the wood in these boxes was rescued from the trash and would have ended up in a landfill. Many of the boxes are made with hand-cut dovetails and whimsical details. These students recognize the value of Wesselman Woods and they are happy to support the good work that happens there.”

- Rob Millard-Mendez Professor of Art

Thank you to Rob Millard-Mendez, Alex Arwood, Candice Beck, Ethan Brinkley, Ella Dornburg, Iain Girten, Kara Jenson, Kye Klemczewski, Jenna Pajdo, Shyanne Steward, and Ana Swope for crafting these unique pieces of functional art!
